1. “Race & Social Justice Graduate Certificate Applications are Due Oct 1 and Mar 1st annually. To apply and for more information visit: race.unm.edu or email Dr. Ricky Lee Allen rlallen@unm.edu, Faculty Advisor; Shoshana Handel, shandel@unm.edu, staff coordinator.
2. Full proposal for 12-credit “Race & Social Justice Undergraduate Certificate” and proposals to create two new courses offered through the Institute entitled “RACE 400/RACE 500 Race & Social Justice Interdisciplinary Insights” and “RACE 430 Race, Rights and Reparations” were submitted to UNM Faculty Senate in October 2016. Please email syllabi for inclusion on the list of approved courses for either the current graduate or the proposed undergraduate certificate to race@unm.edu. For more info visit: race.unm.edu.

12:10-12:45pm Guests: Francie Cordova, Director, Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO) and Dr. Jozi DeLeon, Vice President, Division of Equity & Inclusion (DEI) will speak about OEO and DEI perspectives on improving the collection of race, gender, veteran, disability and other data for social justice in employment, graduate admissions and beyond.

Potential Discussion questions:

- What is the purpose of race, gender, class, LGBTQ, disability, or other demographic data collection (e.g., compliance, equity and social justice)?
- How can we improve the collection of race, gender, class, LGBTQ, disability, veteran and other data on historically marginalized groups for advancing equity in employment, admissions and other key domains?
- What are potential action items and next steps for advancing continuing improvements? E.g., Producing Statewide Guidelines on Improving Transparency and Harmonizing Data? Trainings on Implicit Bias for staff and faculty hiring and graduate admissions? Memo to UNM, UNMH, HED, PED, Municipal and State Government Agencies on the promising practices about the purpose of the collection of race, disability, veteran status, gender, LGBTQ or other data in employment and graduate admissions, other policy areas?
