

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

You are invited to participate in the Annual Meeting of the American Society of Clinical Psychopharmacology (ASCP) to be held at the Fairmont Scottsdale Princess on May 28-31, 2019 by submitting a proposal and attending the meeting. The committee welcomes submissions from the U.S. as well as international proposals, and this year the committee strongly encourages the composition of panels and workshops that include women, under-represented minorities and early career scientists and clinicians.

This year's meeting theme is “Innovations in Personalized Medicine: From Biomarkers to Patient-Centered Care.”

The Program Committee is especially interested in proposals on the topics below but welcomes all submissions.

- Translational Research into Clinical Practice
- Patient-focused Drug Development
- Genomics
- Use of Biomarkers in RCTs
- Technology Advancements and Potential for Assessing Behavior
- Use of Personalized Devices and/or Apps
- Changes in Digital Phenotyping or Analytical Approaches to Data
- Ethical or Privacy Concerns in Behavioral Research
- Outcome Measures in Trials
- VA Million Veteran Cohort

Detailed instructions to submit your abstracts are available at www.ASCPMeeting.org.

The 2019 meeting will again include representatives from academia, the National Institutes of Health (NIH), Food and Drug Administration (FDA), European regulatory agencies and industry to discuss key aspects of neuropsychiatric drug development, including the impact of diagnostic changes and personalized interventions based on biomarkers or genetic information. A Steering Committee chaired by Drs. Susan Kornstein and John Newcomer with representation of the sectors that are part of the ASCP community will lead the direction of the meeting. Representatives from the FDA, EMA, NIMH, NIDA, NIAAA, and academia comprise the 2019 Steering Committee. A Program Committee under the leadership of Drs. Anita Clayton and Erika Saunders will be responsible for review of all program submissions.

Registration will open in December 2018. Please visit www.ASCPMeeting.org for registration and housing details.
