

Panel discussion:

HUMAN RIGHTS AND INTERSECTIONAL COALITION BUILDING

October 4th
2:00-4:00pm

Experimental Theater, Center for the Fine Arts
University of New Mexico

Invited Speakers:

- Lazarus Letcher is a Black trans artist, academic, alliteration addict, & activist
- Blue Green is an undocumented activist, performer and photographer
- Valeria de La Luz is trans and human rights activist based out of LA
- Mariella Saba is a healing arts cultural worker & community organizer from LA
- Moderator: Rebecca Schreiber, Associate Professor, American Studies

Join us for an engaging conversation that explores the ongoing and evolving efforts to end immigrant detention, deportation, and incarceration, while also addressing how organizing and advocacy efforts are shaped and influenced by borders and prison walls. Our invited guest speakers will discuss how organizing intersectionally, along human rights issues, and in solidarity with other oppressed communities can regenerate hope and liberation for all.

Sponsored by Chicana and Chicano Studies, American Studies, Department of Art and Art History, Southwest Hispanic Research Institute, Albuquerque Center for Peace and Justice, and Division of Student Affairs