

NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

Lloyd Lee, PhD

Presents

Native Americans and The University of New Mexico

Co-authored by Dr. Lee

Co-Sponsored by

SC DEI and UNM Staff Council

Tuesday, Nov. 24, 2020

12-1 PM

Zoom Link

The book “offers a perspective on the history of Native Americans at The University of New Mexico and the relationship this institution has with Native peoples...For the past 500 years, Native Americans have faced many challenges, especially regarding their education.

This book shows how young men and women met those challenges and how they never lost sight of the fundamental principles of what it means to be an Indigenous human being. It is my hope that future Native American students, parents, and community members will learn from these experiences to help them tackle all of life’s challenges.”

Lloyd L. Lee, Ph.D. is a Diné citizen of the Navajo Nation. He is Kinyaa’áanii (Towering House), born for T’ááshchí’í (Red Bottom).

His maternal grandfather’s clan is ‘Áshjįhi (Salt) and his paternal grandfather’s clan is Tábaqhá (Water’s Edge).